SANTA CLAUS ARRIVES in Granite City Friday morning as he crosses the 19th Street overpass heading into the downtown area, where he has taken up residence in Santa's cabin at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue. He made a special stop on Niedringhaus Avenue at St. Elizabeth Medical Center to wave to the children, at the fourth floor windows, who are patients there. The short parade through downtown attracted hundreds of children and parents, who lined the streets to see Santa.

Fund mystery due to lack of 'paperwork?'

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

The question of how Granite City got so deeply into debt at the end of the last fiscal year with few auditors or officials realizing the enormity of the approximately $12 million shortage Auditor Dennis Muir has revealed that Granite City's 1980-81 budget year was plagued by months of unfinished accounting procedures, lack of formal fund transfers, a shortage of personnel and little utilization of the city's new computer, which could have given the council up-to-date information.

"Financial reports would have pointed out your difficulties. Whether or not anything could have been done, I don't know," said Muir, an outside accountant hired by the city, who commented that the most obvious problem was expenditures exceeding revenues.

"General fund disbursements exceeded receipts (federal revenue-sharing transfers included) by approximately $730,000," he told the aldermen.

In addition, Muir's presentation before the council again raised the question of what extend the city will be in debt by the end of its 1981-82 fiscal year, without further revenue. The council will meet in special session tomorrow at 6 p.m. to examine the exact status of the city's budget.

Some aldermen contend the city will be indebted by over $1 million at the end of the current fiscal year, April 30, 1982.

The city has projected a $400,000 deficit, but Mayor Paul Schuler contends that the city cannot support the budget past January without additional tax funds.

Muir answered aldermen's complaints of what some considered a long wait for an audit report by explaining the size of the task which faced his company, Curry, Lenhardt and Company, certified public accountants.

"We had to first bring the records up-to-date," Muir told the council. Records were behind by approximately three months, he said.

In his preliminary audit report, he states that the reason there appeared to be a "sudden crisis" in city finances was "due to the fact that a formalized financial reporting system was not being utilized."

He traced lagging bookkeeping back to the resignation in September, 1980, of a key employee in the treasurer's office, who was in charge of entering the city's financial records into its new computer and also was in charge of bank reconciliations and postings.

After her departure, no replacement was appointed and, as a result, monthly treasurer's reports "fell behind," Muir contended.

The auditor said the normal procedure of the city is to keep sales tax and income tax revenues in separate accounts, using them to supplement department funds, as needed. However, formal transfers were not made, which showed up as large fund balances in both accounts. These "false balances" may have indicated to aldermen that funds existed which actually had already been spent.

Muir said accurate financial reports could have at least demonstrated "where you were going," allowing precautions to be taken. He said, however, that a large part of the city's budget is fixed expenditures, such as salaries and pensions.

"We have been here quite a bit," Muir said of his company in preparing the audit, which will probably be ready by Dec. 15. "We had to do substantial amounts of bookkeeping."

The city has accumulated a $12,000 bill, to date, for consulting done by the public accounting firm. Muir said his firm has worked with city personnel, answering questions to get the city's records back in order.

Muir said actual city's deficits began in the fall of 1980, but were small enough that the natural lag in the bill

County Board approves $33 million budget

By JIM SCHLUETER

The Madison County Board approved a $33 million budget for 1982 Wednesday, but not before a sometimes confusing array of amendment attempts.

The $33,051,815 budget will call for a tax rate of 60.63 cents per $100 assessed valuation, which is a reduction from last year's rate of 63.4 cents. The budget itself is more than $2 million less than this year's $35.3 million budget.

The meeting's longest deliberation was over a $40,000 line item in the sheriff's jail request of $847,000. The $40,000 was requested to pay the salaries of three jail personnel who had worked in the jail under CETA.

When the CETA program was eliminated, the sheriff's department hired the three employees. However, this was done after the board approved a resolution last June which said no additional employees may be funded in the 1982 budget.

Wednesday, the $40,000 appeared in jeopardy when the board defeated a resolution which would have repealed last June's hiring freeze. But then the board seemed to contradict itself when it defeated amendments which would have transferred the $40,000 to the board's contingency fund or would have dropped the item from the budget completely.

That's when board member Daniel Partney of Granite City, proposed a motion which would allow Sheriff Emil Tofant to rehire the three employees. Partney cited a clause in the June resolution which said expanded programs could be funded if the programs would provide income or future benefit to the county.

The jail could receive money if federal prisoners are boarded there. The amendment passed 11-9, keeping the general fund total at $12,059,171.

Two other amendments were approved, one which increased the Animal Control budget $18,000 from $134,275 to $152,275 and another which changed the budget request of the county's 708 Mental Health Board.

The county board had disapproved of a 708 board request which would have cut several agencies' budgets but would have increased the budget of OATH, a sheltered workshop in Madison, by $60,000. It would have also financed two new agencies.

The county board was ready to give all the agencies the same amounts they received in 1981 and increase OATH $10,000 when Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer proposed an amendment. He said the county board should take $25,000 from the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency and give $10,000 of this to OATH and $15,000 to the Hospice program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

"We're talking about taking care of kids who are there not because of their own fault," Hagnauer said of the OATH program. Board member Homer Henke of Moro, agreed with Hagnauer's priorities.

"These alcoholics had a choice," he said. "They didn't have to be there and the dopeheads didn't have to be there." The amendment was approved. It reduced the drug and alcohol program from $90,000 to $65,000.

Two other budget amendments proposed by Herschel Beane, Godfrey, and James Heil, Godfrey, were defeated. The two disagreed with the fact that the proposed budget kept the recorder of deeds' department at $207,230, the same as in 1981.

Heil proposed an amendment that would have added $4,000, but it was defeated. Besides the general fund total of $12,064,171, other parts of the 1982 budget are $10,120,339 in the special tax fund, $1,545,000 in federal revenue sharing funds and $9,322,305 in federal grants such as manpower and community development.

SMAPC is a 'local' agency

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

(Third of a series)

Although its office is not located in the Quad-City area, the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission is a local governmental body in terms of its impact.

At one time, it even considered physically locating in Granite City, but since then it has become more or less permanently associated with Collinsville as a central location for its region.

SMAPC is in the news because it somewhat unexpectedly has encountered financial difficulties. It was cut off from state funding in 1981.

Its income for 1982 also is in jeopardy, threatening a number of matching-fund projects described as beneficial to communities throughout the seven-county area.

The planning agency nevertheless has remained a busy center of activity, aided by some financial reserves and a few on-going projects. But it cannot continue indefinitely without a

Reject plans for a 'pulverizing' plant

Granite City's new zoning ordinance was upheld on an 11-2 vote amidst an appeal to the Granite City Council by Attorney William Haine, who sought an update, and a counter-protest by those living in the area of a proposed stone pulverizing plant.

The debate was sparked by a request for light industrial zoning, rather than the current warehouse classification, in the 2300 block of Adams Street for a stone pulverizing plant. The plan was met with a 170-signature petition by residents objecting to any changes in their neighborhood.

"I think it would be very foolish to allow this," Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward told Alderman Casmer Skubish of the First Ward, who had asked the council to consider the request.

The Plan Commission last week rejected Dan Churovich's petition for the zoning change in the 2300 block of Adams Street. Churovich is office manager of the Madison County Office of Manpower Development. The commission had supervised preparation of the city's new zoning ordinance.

Fisk said Churovich had contacted him about the change in the new zoning ordinance only three days after it had been approved by the council. "On Tuesday, we approved the new zoning ordinance and map. On Friday, Churovich called me and said he would proceed."

Although the council was assured by Haine that no dust pollution would result from the stone crushing operation, Fisk told aldermen he is concerned there may be a proposed "baghouse" in the plans.

"That tells me there has to be dust," Fisk contended that spits have occurred in "baghouses" used by other industries in Granite City.

Haine said the Churovich's operation would process packaged stone for conversion into powdered animal nutrient. The attorney said that prior to the new zoning ordinance the old M-1 (manufacturing) classification of the grounds would have allowed his client's business.

In the last 10 or 15 years, under the old ordinance, Churovich "would be in business now," Haine said, asking for a "just rezoning."

He acknowledged there had been a number of objectors to the change, but he told aldermen he thought "most objections have been answered." He said he is asking for a "reasonable use of property" which would benefit the city, the neighborhood and the owner of the property, now living in an out-of-state nursing home.

Haine said the pulverizing operation, by its very nature, is a closed process.

Sasyk defends reviews

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk at the Madison City Council meeting last week commented on the letter read to the council on Nov. 19 by Alderman William Gushleff, acting on behalf of Mayor Sasyk who was out of the city. "I would like to make a few comments in regards to the front page and editorial articles in our local paper (Press-Record) on my letter to the council."

"The paper has always had a high professional attitude in regards to any new programs in the local area. I believe in my letter they were trying to read between the lines and I disagree with what they think we are trying to accomplish."

"All we are looking for is a performance appraisal, employee responsibility and trying to maximize individual potential. We want to increase productivity and efficiency and thereby provide better service to our constituents."

"We are sure the newspaper is aware that all municipalities are experiencing difficult times in meeting local needs and the council is concerned in meeting the problems head-on and not trying to shift the burden. Hopefully, with better performance and productivity, we can give the citizens of Madison consistent service in the street department, more

Meet on farmland preservation

A meeting on farmland preservation will be held Thursday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the United Church of Christ in Marine. John Quinn, University of Illinois Extension land resources specialist, will be the main speaker discussing "Land Use - A Moral Dilemma. He will cover the government's role in land, some historical observations and some suggested alternatives.

Gordon Gass, Madison County farmer, will discuss the procedure in establishing an agricultural area.

Additional detail on the program are available from the Madison County Extension office. GROWING CHRISTMAS TREES

A University of Illinois Extension circular on "Growing Christmas Trees in Illinois" is available free on request at the Extension office. The circular covers information on growing Christmas trees commercially. It covers information on selection of tree species, site selection, protection of the plantation, how and when to plant seedlings, cultural practices such as shading, pruning, fertilizing, harvesting and marketing trees.

Those deciding to grow trees will find the investment significant. They will not be able to harvest trees until the end of the sixth year.

It's very important that the weeds are controlled in a tree plantation and that the trees are shared each year. Persons interested in obtaining tree seedlings for a Christmas tree planting may obtain them from the state nurseries.

INSECT CONTROL
While the practice of no-till combats soil loss, corn that is grown no-till apparently is more susceptible to insect problems than corn that is grown conventionally.

Whether the outbreaks on the no-till corn in 1981 were magnified by tillage and weather conditions, or whether they can be expected yearly isn't known yet, but a management system similar to that used with conventional corn growing is needed to control the pests.

Concern about insect problems shouldn't keep growers from adopting reduced or no-till practices. Field scouting, planting-time treatments of soil in insecticides and postemergence treatments are the control keys, just as in conventional tillage.

Eliminate backlog of firearms IDs

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the Department of Law Enforcement has cleared up a backlog of applications for Firearms Owners' Identification cards.

"Since I issued the order to the department on Nov. 6 to eliminate the backlog, some 53,000 applications have been handled by the department with the help of personnel from other agencies. In fact, the department cleared up the backlog four days sooner than it had expected," the Governor said.

Officials in the Department of Law Enforcement said the Firearms Owners' Identification Card process now is in the best shape ever, with the shortest lag time in recent years between the receipt of an application by DLE and the processing of that application.

The Department received the help of about 47 volunteers from 11 other agencies in the 2½ week cleanup process.

Law Enforcement Director James Zagel reminded hunters that the suspension of enforcement of a limited portion of the F.O.I.D. Act ran out Nov. 27.

That suspension stated that the Department of Law Enforcement would not take any action against an authorized firearm dealer or buyer of shotgun or rifle ammunition if the person buying the ammunition displays an F.O.I.D. card that expired after Dec. 31, 1980.

professionalism in the police department and effective performance in the fire and ambulance service, even though we are faced with a fiscal problem and changes.

"The state of Illinois Department of Personnel is sponsoring various seminars throughout the state and it is these same programs which we hope to take advantage of. One seminar they have is a performance appraisal, which is pay for performance. A given job is viewed and standards are applied to determine how effectively the employee performs in the position and accomplished results. This should be very interesting.

"In this day of short finances, changes must be made and we hope we can find solutions before it is too late. Our council is fully aware of our financial situation and our productivity and I am sure the newspaper is too. We intend to 'bite the bullet' and look out for our taxpayers' interests and I'm sure the committees will come back with recommendations to help solve our problems.

Mayor Sasyk then said, "We are closing our eighth month and I would like the finance committee to meet with Al Hudzik (city comptroller) and review just where we are, financially, and make recommendations they think necessary to the council."

"After we hear from the finance committee, I will appoint an evaluation committee," Sasyk said. Fifth Ward Alderman Donald Garrett asked that the Ward Five be represented on the finance committee. Garrett maintained that every other ward is represented. The mayor did not appoint any new members to the committee.

The finance committee consist of Third Ward Alderman Thomas Gordon Jr., chairman, First Ward Aldermen Paul E. Ashford and Robert Don Reeves and Second Ward Alderman Gushleff.

Neither Ward Four or Ward Five has members on the aldermanic finance committee.

Ordinances calling for the condemnation of structures at 918 Jefferson St. and 1334 Third St. were read and passed. Building Inspector John Dutko reported that four other structures are nearing the 45 day period before the city can actually condemn them.

"I am pleased with the way most of our citizens are responding to improve their property and the cooperation by most people is really good. We have a small few that we just have to get tough with and take to court."

"I have reviewed various properties with our condemnation attorney (Michael Bilby) and I feel he is doing a good job for the city in the matter of these old buildings," Dutko said.

The council gave Comptroller Hudzik authority to re-advertise for the sale of lot 12 and outlot 12b in the Maers Industrial Park, and to reject the one bid that was submitted.

The council passed an ordinance declaring about one and one-half acres as part of the redevelopment project, which includes the fire department building, city hall and some property west of the fire department, which will become part of the mini-mall.

It was noted that the city group health insurance, which is purchased in cooperation with other area cities has been raised. The increase is from $106 to $139 for family and from $39 to $56 for single.

The council authorized Hudzik to advertise for bids to see if a better policy can be obtained.

BUILDING SHOT

Sometime between 11 p.m. Wednesday, and 3 p.m. Thursday, at least four shots from a small-caliber pistol were fired at the Old China Restaurant, 3717 Namecki Road. Two holes were found in the glass windows in the front of the building, one bullet was found in the plaster wall inside and one spent bullet had apparently struck a service counter and was found on the floor.

Session on taxation set

David L. Chicoline, extension economist at the University of Illinois, will teach a local leader session on "Taxes: Supporting Community Services" tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. at the Immanuel United Methodist Church meeting room, 800 N. Main St., Edwardsville.

Chicoline will discuss the principles of taxation, the federal tax system, Illinois state and local government tax systems and property taxation in Illinois. The seminar is planned as a training meeting for 60 Homemakers Extension Association lay teachers, but anyone interested in attending may do so.

The local leaders will repeat the information in a one-hour program for their HEA units in June. The class is sponsored by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service as part of its adult education program in Madison County.

News notes

Telephone registration (at 235-7900) will end Friday for the Belleville Area College Extension programs in Granite City and Madison.

The Illinois Supreme Court on Wednesday upheld the 1982-1991 map adopted by the state legislative redistricting commission, except for changes in two central Illinois districts. The high court acted on a declaratory judgment sought by Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, and Adams County Clerk George Schrage. The justices' decision finding the plan constitutionally valid was unanimous. Meanwhile, Republicans are challenging a federal court decision approving a statewide Congressional remap plan that is expected to reduce the 14-10 GOP edge to an 11-11 tie.

By an act of Congress, the new Alton lock and dam will be named after U.S. Rep. Melvin Price of this district.

Blair School second grade students presented a Thanksgiving choral program at Wednesday's luncheon of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club. The birthday of Mrs. Valerie Stevens, Madison school district music director, was celebrated.

Small business seminar planned

The Small Business Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a seminar Dec. 2 explaining tax changes caused by the Economic Recovery Act of 1981.

The seminar will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Community Club of the St. Louis Support Center (Army installation), Niedringhaus Avenue and Route 3.

John Hillhouse and Bob Broad, tax specialists of the St. Louis firm of Price-Waterhouse, will conduct the seminar explaining, in general, all of the provisions of the act, especially those parts affecting the small business operator.

The seminar is free to both Chamber of Commerce members and the public. Reservations may be made by calling 575-6400. Those attending the seminar may dine at the Army Installation.

Alfred Richardson, director of the chamber, explained that this effort by the Small Business Committee is part of the chamber's service to the community to help keep area business managers up-to-date and well-informed.

monetary remedy of some kind.

Its work program for the 1980-81 fiscal year required 23 pages just to summarize.

The past year included, for example, a Tri-City Regional Port District low-to-medium-BTU fuel gas feasibility study. That may not sound like much, but it is regarded as valuable to the effort to establish a coal gasification facility in the Quad-Cities.

The coal-to-gas plant would provide fuel for existing and future manufacturing operations at the local port.

Tri-City Port officials launched the study in conjunction with the Dravo Corp. to determine technical and economic feasibility.

Funded by a grant from the U. S. Department of Energy, the study involved developing technical specifications for—and the economic feasibility of—various types of gasification facilities to be built on a "green field" site on Port District property.

SIMAPC contributed technical analyses concerning the market potentials of product gas, plus coal pricing, environmental considerations, and markets for by-products of the process.

In addition, the commission's staff assisted in overall project management and review.

Along with this work and other specific assignments related to various port districts, including the Southwest Regional Port District south of here and the Kaskaskia Regional Port District to the southeast, SIMAPC assisted the ports in servicing prospective developers and in identifying alternatives for project financing.

Services to the ports also included creation of plans and graphics. Through miscellaneous responses to information requests, SIMAPC continued its involvement in the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis Advisory Council, the Great River III Industrial and Commercial Development work group, and the Illinois Ports Council.

For the City of Granite City, the commission assisted in preparing a comprehensive amendment to the zoning ordinance, leading to adoption of a new city zoning document.

SIMAPC also updated the local municipality's future development plan.

A campaign to establish a Madison County-Collinsville Hilton Hotel was aided by the commission through assistance it gave in preparing and following up on an application for a U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development grant known as UDMG (Urban Development, Action, Grant).

allowing no air pollution. Only five to six employees would be needed, and the building would be insulated.

"No one could hear machinery," Haine said, as several protesting residents sat behind him. The attorney said the land is bordered by only one resident.

Thomas Bryarley, 2323 Adams St. spokesman for the neighborhood residents, said he has maintained the property for 15 years. Twelve houses face the property, including the homes of eight senior citizens, he told the council. "The neighborhood is extremely worried about the dust 'problem and noise,'" he said.

Bryarley said the new zoning ordinance contains several areas which are zoned for the type of business Church properties.

The present M-1 zoning would allow commercial and industrial establishments usually requiring extensive land areas for open storage. Permitted uses include rental storage warehousing, building material warehousing and wholesaling, animal clinics and public utility facilities.

Once zoned M-2 the area could be used for more than 51 other kinds of businesses, including light manufacturing and assembly plants.

"In good conscience, I can't vote (against it) if there is no noise and no effluent," Skubish told aldermen, after Fisk had already offered a motion to deny the petition and concur with the Plan Commission.

Fisk said other problems involved with the zoning change include the possibility that the business might decide to expand in the future or might sell the building to a light industry.

Although the three acres are zoned M-1, Fisk said that he did not meet the 10-acre minimum requirement for either M-1 or M-2, which the ordinance stipulated in order to prevent spot zoning. The requirement, however, only refers to the creation of new zones.

In addition to disapproving the petition of Church at its last meeting, the Plan Commission tabled until December a request for the annexation and rezoning to M-1 of a tract of land on I-270 and Route 3.

The request was made by Richard Long for construction of a motel.

A request by Alderman Jake Varadan of the Fifth Ward for rezoning in the downtown area was approved. The 1400 block of Grand Avenue, the 1700 block of State Street and the 1600 and 1700 blocks of Delmar and Edison avenues were approved as residential zones.

The new zoning in these areas is R-3 in the 1400 block of Grand, R-4 in the 1600 and 1700 blocks of Delmar and Edison avenues and R-4 in the 1700 block of State Street.

The commission approved the annexation request of Clarence and Jacqueline Cooper for addresses on 2632, 2634 and 2636 Pine St. There was a discussion about a moratorium of construction because of the location of the property in a flood zone. The proposed location of the house, however, is outside the flood area.

Members of the Plan Commission present were Dave Morgan, chairman, Barry Loman, Roy McGee, Homer Huber, Fred Cunningham and Ed Boyer.

The council also was told that the city's Board of Appeals approved the requests of three residents at its last monthly meeting.

The Rev. Milton A. Roe, 80 Briarwood, received permission to construct a garage and storage room two feet from his side property line. Rev. Roe was present at the meeting to request the construction on the property zoned R-2. He assured the board there would be proper drainage.

The board approved a request for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reinhardt, 2845 Iowa St., despite a lack of agreement among Reinhardt's neighbors. He received permission to construct an aluminum 9 by 10-foot shed less than three feet from the side line property. Michael DeFunt, building inspector, said he saw no reason for the permit not to be granted.

John Koester, 2415 Delmar Ave., received approval for the construction of a garage less than two feet from the side property line.

Board of Appeals members present were Tony Michel, chairman, Richard Kerch, Fred Barr and Harriet Hoff.

days before the fiscal year end. Normally, this revenue would be received with the tax revenue. However, since the city maintains its accounting records on a cash basis, this was revenue for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

In summary, Muir states: "A problem existed at the beginning of the year. It was not detected because of a lack of financial reporting, and it finally surfaced through the cumulative effect of expenditures exceeding revenues."

Muir told the councilmen that they need someone with a strong accounting background to take over the responsibility of the city's budget. The city needs both a treasurer and a comptroller, Muir contended.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward said the city already has been selected to fill the comptroller post and his name will be presented for council approval tomorrow evening.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward asked if the city has its bills paid up-to-date now, and Muir said it is his understanding that they do.

Muir said city employees are close to being up-to-date in their bookkeeping, but it is "a real effort" for the department to do so at the current employee level.

Decatur said that after the treasurer's department lost its key employee, he suggested someone be hired to make use of the city's computer, but had gotten no action from the council.

"The machine (computer) is in place, but payroll is the only thing running," Muir said. The city already has purchased a budgeting package for the computer and was "within days of testing stage" when the key employee left in September.

Muir said that since the computer is paid for and the budgeting system has been purchased, he does not understand why the city has not previously hired someone qualified to run the computer. He said the computer has the capacity to give the city its needed formalized accounting system and avoid such future financial "mysteries."

Pontoon Beach man booked after chase

Victor R. Couch, 28, of 4140 Division St., Pontoon Beach, was arrested last week at a mobile home park at the intersection of a trailer court on Division Street, where the vehicle he was driving was halted by a police officer.

Couch was charged with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest, assault, reckless driving, a stop sign violation and passing in a "no passing" zone. An additional charge is pending.

He pleaded guilty to all charges in a court appearance Tuesday morning and was fined a total of $590, payable by Jan. 8, 1982.

The officer said the incident started when he noticed Couch's vehicle traveling north on Nameki Road, allegedly at high rate of speed, and then skid around the corner into Pontoon Beach, heading east.

It was alleged Couch continued through stop signs at Washburn Avenue and Johnson Road with the officer in pursuit, and passed a vehicle in a "no passing" zone at Maryville Road before turning into Division Street.

After being stopped, Couch allegedly became abusive, belligerent and used foul language and threats toward the officer, whose coat he grabbed and tried to throw him to the ground, it was reported.

The officer said a passing motorist halted his car nearby and said he knew Couch.

Couch. The man talked with Couch and persuaded him to get into the squad car while the Granite City officer radioed for assistance. Two Pontoon Beach officers responded.

Once in the patrol vehicle, Couch allegedly kicked out a rear window and damaged a door. He was transferred to another squad car.

At the booking window, he allegedly became abusive again and made threats against the officer. Force was necessary to place him in a cell, police said.

While making the arrest, the officer's watchband was broken and his trousers were torn, the report stated.

Armed robbery at Venice store

Two negro males with shotguns in hand entered the Venice Bi-Rite Grocery, 420 Broadway, Venice, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and fled with an undetermined amount of money and checks.

According to police reports, the two armed robbers, wearing ski masks, came running into the store and one said, "Anyone make the wrong move and you're going to get it. Lay (sic) on the floor." The other man went into the office and took cash and checks.

Customers and store employees complied with the order and numerous descriptions were given to the police after the incident.

The men were both said to be wearing blue jeans and were about 6 feet tall and weighing approximately 200 pounds. One had a green coat.

The pair reportedly fled on foot, running south toward Lincoln Street, where a car is believed to have been waiting. Venice police are conducting an intensive investigation.

LEGION SAFE LOOTED
A brown bank money bag with $500 in cash and several checks was discovered missing at 4:05 p.m. Friday from the safe in the office of the American Legion, 1835 State St. There was apparently no forced entry to the office or the safe. It was noted that three other bags with cash and checks in the safe were not disturbed.

Republicans are enthusiastic about 1982

By KARL L. MONROE
The Republican convention at Edwardsville, last week gave its loudest applause and a standing ovation to a non-candidate, Everett Steele, the Glen Carbon realtor who is retiring from the Illinois House of Representatives.

He didn't rise to the bait of a "We need you" speaker, but promised to help any Republican who would file to succeed him.

Ray Stilwell, chairman of a committee to secure candidates, made a strong pitch for candidates. "We need your help. You know people who might be good candidates for these positions. We, unlike the Democrats, don't require a large sum of money to get on our slate."

He said, "We have a two-party system stronger than it has ever been in a long time." Republican State's Attorney Don Weber gave a pep talk for candidates, bubbling with optimism based on his own success.

"Frank Watson (for Senator) can be a winner. Ron Stephens can be elected in the district he's running in (against Mike Slape for representative)."

Weber said, "Everyone thinks Jim McPike is a winner. I checked the figures from the last election. I carried McPike's district by 2,000 votes." He said McPike is vulnerable. "He's recently divorced. He's a Catholic who's for abortion. He's a candidate who's against guns and ammunition" in a district which includes Olin Corp., a leading ammunition and gun manufacturer.

Weber said, "People should remember Tom Welch wasn't on the ballot until after the primary. Now he's an appellate judge."

The convention was a mixture of enthusiastic, optimistic praise of state and national policies by leaders of a party in power and pleas for candidates in Madison County.

County Chairman Edward Ragsdale said, "For Congress we talked to State Rep. Celeste Stiehl, who was treated very badly in redistricting. Late last week, she has withdrawn her name. We're back to square one."

Nobody was introduced as a candidate for county office or circuit judge. Ragsdale said the current treasurer is very vulnerable. "There is much division on treasurer in the Democratic party. Unions are unhappy with the treasurer and he was strongly criticized by auditors Price, Waterhouse," Ragsdale said.

"Superintendent of Schools has been very low key." However, the well-qualified GOP candidate who had been lined up has backed out, he said.

Ragsdale introduced or announced candidates for County Board:

Incumbents Dorothy Spence, Alton; Herschel Bean and Jim Neil, Godfrey; Homer Henke, Moro; Jack Griffin, Wood River; plus Donna Graham, Collinsville; John Mull and Viola Harrington, Fort Russell; Glen Hollis, Granite City; Jim Oglesby, Edwardsville; Dottie Cummins, state treasurer; Glen Carbon; Kate Frizon, Alton; Joe Manual, Collinsville.

Graham challenged Mike Semanisin unsuccessfully in the last county board election. Manual will run against Fred Dalton.

Ty Fahner, attorney general for the past 13 months, was the featured speaker. He is running for re-election, apparently unopposed for nomination and probably to face former Democratic Lt. Governor Neil Hartigan.

Two candidates and a possible candidate for lieutenant governor spoke. State Sen. Don Totten, recited his conservative record such as chief sponsorship of the taxpayer's rights amendment and the free enterprise zone bill, which passed and was vetoed, plus his close ties to President Ronald Reagan. He was Reagan's campaign manager in Illinois.

Earlier, he announced Don Weber would be his campaign manager.

House Speaker George Ryan, Gov. Jim Thompson's choice, said he would be Thompson's cabinet secretary, work on the budget and with the legislature. "Thompson and I work together," he said.

Rep. Susan Catania, who may run for lieutenant governor, was introduced by Ragsdale as a "maverick." He called on her to account for her support of John B. Anderson for president.

Mrs. Catania is not yet a candidate, but said she is testing the waters before formally announcing.

Robert Nall, candidate for comptroller, said he could win. He got 43 percent of the vote in a Cook County race, for Metropolitan Sewer District, the same margin Reagan had. "If you come out of Cook County with better than 40 percent, you can win in Illinois."

Watson stressed his record of attention to people's problems.

Ray Johnson spoke for Bob Blair, candidate for treasurer. Blair was speaker of the house four years, knows state government and has "name recognition," Johnson said.

John P. Dailey, candidate for treasurer, pledged himself to work for Constitutional limits on state and local taxes. Bill Scott in 1962 was the last Republican elected treasurer.

The convention was a curious blend of bubbling enthusiasm and the euphoria of holding both national and state administrations, and the chronic problem of Madison County Republicans, finding candidates. The field is open for many offices and the party faithful at the convention were optimistic they will field a strong slate by the end of filing, Dec. 14.

Cardinals edge Pats for third straight

Special to the Press-Record

FOXBORO, Mass. — A 30-yard touchdown pass from rookie quarterback Neil Lomax to Roy Green provided the St. Louis football Cardinals with their third straight victory here Sunday, 27-20 over the pesky New England Patriots at Schaefer Stadium.

The touchdown pass from Lomax, who was starting his third straight game in place of regular signal-caller Jim Hart, came with 42 seconds remaining in the game and handed the Patriots their eleventh defeat in 13 games.

The victory also kept the Big Red in the playoff hunt — although the possibilities are remote. "We're legitimate playoff contenders," said Lomax. "We're 6-7 now. That's not too bad. In the second half (of the season), we're not playing too badly. We're playing very well, in fact. We've got nothing to lose. We're just going for it."

The route employed by Green on the pass pattern was designed to get about 10 yards. The Cardinals were just hoping to get a little closer to the goal posts and get into placekicker Neil O'Donoghue's field goal range. "It was a fake crossing pattern," said Green after the game. "I start out making it look like a crossing pattern and then stop. Everything's the same as in a cross pattern play, but I just stop in my tracks and go the other direction." Green has developed into one of the phenominal stories of the 1981 NFL season. The defensive back-turned-wide receiver played both way again Sunday, also seeing action as free safety.

The game was an uphill climb most of the way for the Big Red. They trailed the Patriots almost the entire first half. After taking a 3-0 lead on a 44-yard field goal by O'Donoghue in the first quarter, the Cardinals found themselves behind when New England's Sam Cunningham powered into the end zone on a one-yard run later in the same quarter. Joey Smith's extra point made it 7-3.

O'Donoghue was called upon again, this time in the second quarter after a St. Louis drive stalled. He booted a 45-yard field goal and the Cardinals went into the locker rooms at halftime trailing 7-6.

Despite having most of the statistical edge in the game, the Cardinals found themselves behind 13-6 early in the third quarter when New England's Tony Collins scored a touchdown on a six-yard end sweep. That's when the Cardinals started to wake up just a bit. The Cardinals tied the score at 13-13 when Wayne Morris scored from the one-yard line. But the touchdown was set up by rookie running back Stump Mitchell.

Mitchell took the ball from Lomax at the New England 23-yard line, swept right end, leaped over Morris who was blocking, and headed uptfield. He literally dragged three New England defenders down to the one-yard line.

"I wanted to get into the end zone," said Mitchell. "But I knew that getting the first down was the main thing." Morris scored on the next play with Mitchell on the bench getting a breather.

The Cardinals finally took the lead midway into the fourth quarter when Otis Anderson, who finished the game with 55 yards rushing, scooted around left end, put on a burst of speed and scored a touchdown from 14 yards out. O'Donoghue's PAT made it 20-13.

But back came New England. The Patriots took the kickoff following Anderson's score and drove down the field to tie the score at 20. Vagas Ferguson ran the ball into the end zone from one yard out.

Red Devils hold off Lovejoy for first win

EAST ST. LOUIS — The Venice High basketball Red Devils won their first game of the season here Saturday night. And it was a big one. The Devils, who upped their record to 1-2 on the season downed highly-touted Lovejoy 64-60 in the final round of the East St. Louis Senior High Thanksgiving Tournament.

The victory by Venice over Lovejoy was a long time coming. The Red Devils have had their troubles with the Wildcats in recent seasons. But they managed to outduel them in the first meeting between the two schools this season.

"We've had them down before," said Venice head coach Ken Perkins. "But they've come back on us. You can outplay teams better than you for most of a game, but eventually, talent will win out. That's been the case in the past. But this season, I think we have comparable talent. We're good and we're going to try to play that way."

The Red Devils were led in scoring by 6-2 senior Archie Gardner who pumped in 20 points. Harold "Smoky" Milton also scored 20. "Both Archie and Smoky looked real good," said Perkins. "They both took the ball to the hoop and shot well."

Keith Marchbanks scored 12 points for the Red Devils. According to Perkins, it was his effort that was critical to the victory. "He's the most hustling kid we've got out on the floor," said the Venice coach. "That's why he's out there. He does so many things for us."

For the record, Marchbanks had eight chances, four assists and 11 rebounds. He was our leading rebounder and he's only 5-11," said Perkins. "That tells you how much he's hustling." Leading all scorers was Lovejoy's 6-10 giant, Barry Sumpter, who scored 31 points. "He's a dandy," said Perkins.

"But when you're 6-10, you're on your way already."

Venice jumped out to a 16-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. They led 31-26 at the halftime intermission. The Red Devils outscored the Wildcats 19-10 in the third quarter before Lovejoy came back in the fourth quarter to make it close, outscoring the Devils 28-15.

"I'm pleased with our effort," said Perkins. But he mentioned a couple things that will have to improve as the season progresses. "Our press and how well we can break the press will have to improve," he said. "And we need to work on our composure. There were a couple of times we lost it against Lovejoy and in our first two games in the tournament."

Friday, Venice lost to Chicago Dunbar 60-59. Thursday, the Red Devils lost to East St. Louis 67-57 in the round-robin tournament.

Pioneers' second half gives Madison first loss

By ROGER KRAMER

for the Press-Record
EAST ST. LOUIS — It was difficult to determine whether Madison basketball coach Larry Graham was most disappointed with the manner in which the Trojans played or the officials who called the Trojans' 62-60 loss to East St. Louis Assumption Saturday.

"I thought the official called the game as poorly as we played the game. They missed a charging foul that might have cost us the game, but this wasn't one of our better games either," Graham said.

With the score tied at 60-60 with 21 seconds left in regulation time, Assumption had control of the ball and called a time out. Graham told his players to try to set up a charging foul on the inbound play.

When the Pioneers took the ball out of bounds, the Trojans set up for the charging foul. Both Graham and Assumption coach Ted Daniels agreed that one of the Pioneers made contact with a Madison defender during the play. Whereas Graham thought a charging foul should have been called, Daniels wasn't sure about the extent of the contact.

"I thought the referee blew the call," Graham said. "Our captain asked him about the charge. He said he didn't see it. He (the referee) must have been just a foot away from it."

"We could have had two free throws from the play, but who's to say we would have made the free throws," Graham added. "He definitely missed the call."

Daniels said, "I did see our kid bump into the Madison kid. I don't know hard he bumped into the Madison kid, so I don't know if he bumped him hard enough to be called or not."

Tonight we got lucky. Some other night, Madison may get lucky," Daniels said.

After passing the ball around the perimeter, the Pioneers passed the ball to forward Derek Berry who shot from 15 feet out with three seconds left. The basket was good, Madison immediately called time out, and the Assumption fans prematurely celebrated the victory because the timekeeper let the clock run out.

After the fans were cleared from the floor and two seconds were put back on the clock, Madison got the ball under Assumption's basket. Daniels wasn't too concerned with what Madison could do in those two seconds.

South easily wins opener over Eagles

BETHALTO — The Granite City South basketball Warriors crushed Civic Memorial of Bethalto here Saturday night, 79-64 to win their season opener.

South was paced by a balanced scoring attack, which featured five players in double figures. "It's great to get that first one under your belt," said South head coach Don Deterding. "Even though we'll have tougher games coming up, it was a good one to win."

As has been the case in recent seasons, South's tough-as-nails defense was a critical factor in the victory. The Warriors used the press in the first half and coasted to a wide-open 45-16 halftime lead. But in the second half, Deterding took off the press and experimented with two secondary defenses.

"Let's say I was happy with the way we performed in the first half," said Deterding. "In the second half, we showed a lot of things that have to be worked on. They scored 28 points off us in the fourth quarter. We have to get those other defenses clicking."

South jumped out to a 16-5 lead at the end of the first quarter and never looked back.

"I think everybody played fairly well on defense — in the first half," said Deterding. "But on offense, we still could have done better. But it was our first time out on the court."

The Warriors were originally scheduled to play in a round-robin Thanksgiving Holiday tournament at Bethalto to open the season.

bounds when the buzzer sounded.

Graham was quick to admit that call wasn't the only thing that led to the Trojans' downfall.

"It (the call) was just one of the things that beat us. Assumption simply wanted it more than we did and they played harder," Graham pointed out.

Madison outplayed the Pioneers in the first half and led at halftime 30-33.

However, complications arose, forcing cancellation of what was to have been Bethalto's first-ever holiday invitational meet.

South was led in scoring by Kenney McManus who pumped in 16 points. "Kenney had a super defensive game," said Deterding, "but he didn't shoot the ball very well."

Pat Linhart chipped in 13 points for South, while Joe Schmefke had 10. Jim Petty, a 6-2 guard, had 12 points for South. He took the spot in the Warriors' lineup vacated by since-departed guard Jim Choat, whose family moved out of the area.

"Jim (Choat) was really coming along for us and probably would've been one of our better players this year," said Deterding. "He'll be missed, but I think Jim (Petty) did a good job in his first game and I think we have the people on our team to fill in for Choat."

South's 6-3 center, Jim Holder, didn't score against Bethalto's Eagles. "But he got off only one shot from the floor," said Deterding, "is his player's defense."

Mt. Carmel brings 3A grid crown down south

NORMAL — Southern Illinois got its first state championship of the school year here Saturday afternoon — a bit later than usual, but acceptable, just the same.

Mount Carmel drubbed Kankakee Bishop McNamara 22-8 to capture the Illinois Class 3A state football championship at Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University.

Mount Carmel's Golden Aces finished the season with a perfect 13-0 record. And they were never in any trouble from McNamara. The Aces amassed a total of 22 first downs — Kankakee had but three. The Aces had 237 rushing yards — Kankakee had but 38. Mount Carmel had 88 passing yards — Kankakee had but 19.

"Gentlemen, we got whipped," said Kankakee head coach Rich Zinzani. "They (Mount Carmel) beat us on the line. They beat us everywhere."

"Their linemen beat our linemen. Their backs ran harder than ours did. They're a balanced team. That's why they beat us today."

It didn't take long for Mount Carmel, the champion of the North Egypt Conference, to get things rolling. The Golden Aces took the opening kickoff and drove down the field 72 yards in 11 plays to score the first touchdown of the afternoon. Bruce Lincoln caught a 13-yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Rafferty. Kelly Johnson's kick made it 7-0 at the 7:11 mark of the opening period. There was more to come.

Steve Priest scored on a nine-yard run at the 8:51 mark of the third quarter. Johnson's PAT attempt failed.

The final Mount Carmel scoring of the season came with 9:18 remaining in the game when McNamara quarterback Mike Van Mill intentionally grounded a pass in his own end zone while in the grasp of Mount Carmel defensive end John Kramer.

The Golden Aces were stopped from scoring a fourth touchdown on a fourth down situation inside the McNamara five-yard line early in the fourth quarter.

"I'll tell you," said Mount Carmel head coach Larry Davis, "this feels a lot better than seven years ago." David was referring to his team's 32-0 loss to West Chicago in the 3A title game in 1974 — the first year of the Illinois state football playoff system. "We're a more balanced team now than we were then. Back then, it was three yards a cloud of dust. If we couldn't run, we were in trouble. Now, we're more balanced. Our players are a lot bigger on average than the team we had seven years ago."

The Golden Aces' ground attack was paced by the running of Priest, who gained 114 yards in 27 carries. Matchett had 88 yards in 20 attempts.

The Mount Carmel defense held McNamara's highly-touted running back Rodney Davis, who had scored 11 touchdowns this season, to 25 yards in 11 attempts.

Mount Carmel, which began its undefeated season in September with a victory at Mascoutah, then won only the second state championship in the history of the school that sits on the banks of the Wabash River in Southeastern Illinois. The 1927 Mount

Steamers hold Wichita; stay unbeaten

Special to the Press-Record
WICHITA—Talk about your basic do-it-all type guy. That's St. Louis Steammers goalie Slobodan Ilijevski. Ilijevski got an assist on the game-winning goal here Friday night as the Steammers ran the Major Indoor Soccer League record to 4-0 with a 4-2 victory over the pesky Wichita Wings. Oh sure, lots of goalies get assists. But not like Slobodan here Saturday. He took the ball deep in his own end, dribbled it upfield to the Wichita red line and passed it off to teammate Greg Villa, who cranked up and fired the ball into the back of the net. Boom! Just like that, a 3-2 nail-biter was 4-2 with a little more breathing room. Villa's goal came at the 11:57 mark of the fourth quarter and silenced the sellout crowd of over 9,000 who saw the Wings' season opener in the tiny arena. "If I have a chance to score a goal, I'll do it," said Ilijevski, who scored over 100 goals last summer as a forward in a St. Louis indoor league. On the play, Ilijevski drew in the Wings' defense and passed off to Villa who fired the ball into the back of the net. "The thing was perfect," said Villa. "He (Ilijevski) laid the ball off to me at just the right time. I was one-on-one with a defender, and when that happens, I usually get through." The Steammers jumped out to an early 3-0 lead with over nine minutes still to play in the first half. Tony Glavin got St. Louis on the scoreboard first with a goal. Then teammate Tony Bellinger scored two times to give the Steammers the three-goal advantage.

Then St. Louis was hit with a rash of penalties. Wichita started its comeback. First, it was Wings player Kim Roentved who got his team to within two goals at 8:54. That came with Steamer Steve Pecher in the penalty box for delay of the game. Then, 14 seconds into the third quarter, referee Bill Maxwell sent Steamer Don Elbert off the floor, giving Wichita a 5-3 manpower advantage (St. Louis's Redmond Lane was already in the penalty box for tripping). Norman Piper's goal made it 3-2. That set up the Ilijevski-to-Villa heroics that clinched the game for St. Louis. The victory by the Steammers puts them alone on top of the MISL's Western Division. The St. Louisians also have the best overall record in the league. In divisional play, Denver and Memphis are tied for second place with 2-2 marks. Defending MISL champ New York and Pittsburgh are tied for first place in the Eastern Division with 2-0 records. The Steammers' next action will be at home in the Checkerdome Friday, Dec.

4 when they host Wichita in a 7:35 p.m. contest. STEAMER NOTES: Seeing action Friday night for Wichita was Keith Gehring, a 1974 graduate of Granite City South who played for the Warriors' team that finished third in the 1979 State Tournament at Illinois State University. Steamer John Stremmler extended his MISL record consecutive games-played streak to 100 in the game against Wichita. He played his first 56 of those games for the old Houston Summit.

Steelers drop opener to Wood River Oilers

By ROGER KRAMER for the Press-Record
WOOD RIVER—Granite City North did almost everything Steeler coach Bill Ohlendorf wanted the Steelers to do in their season opener against the Wood River Oilers Friday.

The Steelers held the Oilers to under 60 points, and offensively, the Steelers got the ball inside for better percentage shots. What the Steelers didn't do is make those high percentage shots, and that gave Wood River a 52-43 victory over North. "I thought we played scrappy defense," Ohlendorf said. "And offensively, we got the ball to our inside men. We just didn't put the ball in the basket." Indeed, the Steelers didn't put the ball in the basket. North made only 18 of 68 field goal attempts for 26.5 percent.

"We didn't shoot well at all last week in practice," Ohlendorf said. "We spend hours and hours on shooting in practice. You can't expect to win many games shooting like that." The only reason North stayed in the game with such a poor shooting percentage was because Wood River shot poorly as well. The Oilers made 17 of 54 attempts for 31.5 percent. "Both teams were pressing really well," Wood River coach Darrell Burd said. "They pressed us well, and we did a good job pressing them. They basically didn't get the ball in often because we were putting pressure on the inside men." How much did the poor shooting affect the Steelers? North had a perfect opportunity to take the lead in the third quarter, but missed out on the chance because of poor shooting. The Oilers only made two of 17 tries from the field in the third quarter, but North did the Oilers one worse. The Steelers made only two of 18 shots from the field in the quarter.

"The offense got us the ball in the third quarter, but we couldn't do anything with it. We had three easy lay-ups right in a row, and we couldn't get the ball in the basket. If we can't make lay-ups by now, then we have a lot of work to do," Ohlendorf said. Instead of trailing by eight, North trailed by 10 at the end of the quarter. Even though both teams managed to make 50 percent of their field goal tries in the fourth quarter, North couldn't get any closer than eight points. The Steelers didn't help themselves early in the game either. North committed 11 fouls in the first half, including three by Harold Rody. Rody scored all 10 of his points in the first quarter and appeared to be the bright spot in North's shooting game by making five of nine shots that quarter. However, Rody got himself in foul trouble and had to leave the game in the second quarter.

When he returned to the game in the second half, he continued fouling until he received his fifth foul with 3:15 left in the third quarter. "He's still jumping into people," Ohlendorf said. "The rules say you can't jump into people like that, and he's got to learn not to do that." Rody and Steve Trittschub were the high scorers for North with 10 points each.

(Continued from page 9). but Assumption took control of the game in the second half. The tempo changed as the Trojans made only four of 13 field goal attempts as compared to Assumption making seven of 15 tries. Madison's defense also faltered in the second half. The Trojans forced 11 first half turnovers by Assumption, but the Trojans only forced five turnovers in the second half.

The biggest turnaround came in the area of rebounds. Assumption effectively cleared the boards in the second half and allowed the Trojans to have just one shot at the basket when they brought the ball downcourt. Offensively, the Trojans put up the second and third shots and tied the game by the end of the third quarter.

Meanwhile, Assumption's defense held Mark Madgett, Shannon Manson, Carvel Claggett and Mark Zarr all under 15 points. Madgett had 13 points, Manson had 12 points, Claggett had 14 points, and Zarr scored just seven points.

"I can't tell you how we shut those guys down," Daniels said. "I'm surprised they had Madgett, Claggett and Zarr like that."

Graham, who saw his Trojans shoot well against Chicago Dunbar Wednesday, saw the Trojans shoot for just 38.7 percent against the Pioneers.

Mt. Carmel

(Continued from page 9) Carmel basketball team won the one-class title. The Golden Aces have had more than their share of second-place finishes as of late in ending their 1974 title game loss in the football series. In 1979, they lost the Class 4A baseball championship game in Peoria. In 1980, after school enrollment had dropped below the 750 cutoff mark, the Aces lost the Class 4A baseball championship game to Alton Marquette. In 1957, Mount Carmel lost the title game in the old one-class baseball series. Mount Carmel was one of only two public schools entered in the State Finals to win a state football championship over the weekend. In the other four games in which a public school was matched up against a parochial school, the public school lost. The Class 4A title game was an all-public school affair. In Saturday's other title game here, Wheaton North defeated Geneseo 14-0 to capture the Class 4A championship. In Friday's games at Dyche Stadium at Northwestern University in Evanston, Joliet Catholic defeated Deerfield 8-7 for the Class 5A championship and Brother Rice defeated Keewis 14-0 for the Class 6A championship.

Eastern advances on forfeit

CHARLESTON—The Eastern University of Science and Arts University soccer team was awarded a forfeit victory over San Diego State Saturday. That means that the Panthers will automatically advance to the NCAA Division I Finals to be held next weekend in Palo Alto, Calif. Eastern will take its 18-1-2 record up against either Long Island or the University of Connecticut, which were to have played yesterday in the third round. Eastern upset both SIU-Edwardsville and St. Louis University to win the championship of the NCAA Midwest Regional

CARBONDALE—Led by 15 points by 6-5 junior Darrell Jones, the SIU-Carbondale Salukis opened their 1981-82 basketball season with a 91-67 romp over Southeast Missouri State here Saturday night. Johnny Payne, a junior from Carbondale, added 13 for the Salukis. Jones is from Olney. The victory snapped an 18-game Saluki losing streak that dated back to last season. James Copeland added 12 points for SIU-C, which is now 1-0 under new head coach Allen Van Winkle. The Salukis held a 55-40 halftime lead. They will play at the University of Charleston (W. Va.) Monday night. SEMO is now 1-2 in the season.

Tots may not like toy but they enjoy the box and paper it is wrapped in

By MARY BEASE

The best Christmas toy for a preschooler may not come from the toy department or even from the store. It may be the box it's shipped in. That's one of the first things parents should look for before they start filling orders on Santa's list, according to LaVern Wilson, director of the Early Childhood Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"The best toy is opened. That means a child can use it in a number of different ways and can be creative with it," she said.

"If parents are interested in finding the right toy for the right child this Christmas, they should not follow what's on television. Many of the highly advertised toys are one-dimensional. In addition to the expense, kids tire of them. And they don't always do what the ads say, so kids are disappointed." Instead, the veteran teacher said, parents should make sure Santa brings the kind of toy that is not only fun for the child to play with, but one that will develop a particular skill.

To improve large muscle control, Mrs. Wilson suggested wagons, tricycles, pull toys, large balls, bean bags, big blocks and cardboard boxes.

To stretch a child's mind, try magnets, bubble sets, aquariums and terrariums, puzzles, rubber bands or a lock and keys, she said, adding:

"Kids love carrying around keys. When a local locksmith took me out of business, I talked him out of a box of keys that became the prized toy among all the children at the Center. Finding the right lock is fascinating to them."

"Role playing is also an important part of the learning process for preschoolers. To encourage it, Santa could bring a box filled with dress-up materials, particularly hats and scarves."

"By putting on a hat, a child can become a different person. Inexpensive plastic hats depicting different occupations—astronauts and firefighters to cowboys or engineers—are stocked in most toy departments."

"Puppets and dolls the child can dress and undress, with hair that can be combed, are also important. But one of the most popular items now is capes.

"With all the superheroes on television, it doesn't make much difference what the cape looks like. A child can become a superhero or a wonderwoman or spiderman or whatever."

"For the more imaginative, add sheets and blankets for making tents. The Center has a permanently draped area where children can crawl in and be in their own private place. Kids love to go under and inside things."

"To help a child with his feelings, try giving a hammer and nails, a musical instrument or a pot of clay."

"Clay is great for making people and destroying them. It does no harm, and it allows the child to work out frustrations and anger."

"The hammer and nails work the same way. I remember a child who came to school one day who was very angry with her father."

"I started a row of nails and she beat them into the log. This is great for frustrations."

"In another way, a small rocking chair offers comfort. There is something soothing about the rocking motion that lets a child be off to someplace else."

All Santas must be sure to check all toys for safety. Mrs. Wilson warned:

"Even though the industry has been doing more in toy safety, it still slips up," she said. "It is up to the parent to check and make reasonable choices."

"You would not get a toy with 30 little parts for a three-year-old even though it would be considered perfectly safe for a 10-year-old."

"One of the best toys ever devised was a simple box of different kinds of paper. It had cellophane and foil and wrapping paper of all kinds. Children pulled it out and played with it at different times until it was all gone."

"Real animals make excellent gifts, but parents cannot expect a young child to take care of them. A preschooler cannot assume that kind of responsibility, but he can enjoy guinea pigs, gerbils, hamsters, fish, turtles, rabbits or hermit crabs."

A salamander on loan to the Center from a child in St. Louis County has become the main attraction in the terrarium.

"Books and records geared to the child's interest or age are excellent gifts, but parents need to read and listen before they buy. The quality can go from very good to very bad."

"Most magazines for children are aimed at second grade or older, but younger children can enjoy the pictures."

"The Center subscribes to the one magazine for preschoolers, published by Scienceland. Its pages are filled with excellent pictures and recall games, and it is laminated to last."

"The biggest DON'T for every Santa is obvious. Don't buy anything that takes 20 hours to put together or is a real mechanical nightmare. It usually lasts only a day and is not worth the trouble and expense."

If all else fails, Mrs.

Wilson advises every worried Santa to wrap up the box and return the toy.

She remembers the day the Center received a shipment of 144 rolls of tissue in a cardboard box: "As soon as we unpacked the case, the children took over the box. They were still playing with it days later. Boxes never lose their appeal."

Crash leaves one hurt, 3 arrested

A four-vehicle crash at Madison Avenue and 27th street last week resulted in injuries to a passenger in one auto and the arrest of three other persons in another.

Involved in the collision was Richard M. Swoboda, 35, of Ferguson, Mo., who was arrested and charged with failing to yield the right of way while turning left, illegal transportation of alcohol and driving while intoxicated.

Authorities said Swoboda's 1978 van, northbound on Madison Avenue, turned suddenly in front of a southbound vehicle operated by Danny R. Robertson, 3905 Kirkpatrick Homes, causing the initial collision.

The Swoboda van then continued into 27th Street and struck two eastbound vehicles halted at a traffic light and operated by Margaret J. Rose, 2223 1/2 E. 24th St., and Nick P. Dochwal, 2431 Grand Ave.

Kathryn Robertson, 22, of 3805 Kirkpatrick Homes, a passenger in the Robertson auto, struck her head on the dash and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, suffering abrasions and cuts to the forehead and right knee. She was released after treatment.

Police said Swoboda appeared in an intoxicated condition when he alighted from the van. He was arrested and taken to police headquarters, where he allegedly declined to take a breathalyzer test. He was released on a bail bond card.

Two passengers in Swoboda's van, Ralph E. Walden, 43, of 2225 Delmar Ave., and Victoria L. Turcott, 24, of 2666 Madison Ave., also were arrested.

Both were charged with illegal possession of alcohol. Walden was released upon posting his driver's license and Turcott posted $35 cash bond and was released, pending an appearance on Jan. 8, 1982.

Public Notice of Intent to Issue Section 401 Certification for National Marine Service, Inc.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) received an application for water quality certification pursuant to Section 401 of the Clean Water Act from National Marine Service, Inc., Post Office Box 38, Harford, Illinois 62048, on March 30, 1981. The proposed project involved the construction of a barge floating facility on and along 3200 feet of the left descending bank of the Mississippi River near Granite City, Illinois, between approximate river miles 192.2 and 192.8 above the mouth of the Ohio River, in Section 19, TWP 4N, Range 9W of the 3rd Principal Meridian in Madison County. The proposed facility was to consist of four (4) steel pile dolphins and sixteen (16) concrete deadmen for mooring a maximum fleet of 112 barges. The operation at the facility would involve storage of empty and full barges for making and breaking apart barge tows, and was not to be a cargo transfer facility. The applicant has applied for a dredge and fill permit from U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, St. Louis District, pursuant to Section 404 of the Clean Water Act for which Section 401 certification was requested from the IEPA.

On August 3, 1981 the IEPA issued a public notice of intent to deny Section 401 certification for the proposed facility, based on the following: 1) the proposed facility is located approximately 800 feet upstream of the raw water intake for the Illinois-American Water Company, a public water supplier for portions of St. Clair and Madison Counties; 2) spill prevention and emergency measures proposed by the applicant were inadequate to protect water quality for the public water supply; 3) the location of the proposed facility would not allow for an adequate response time in the event of a spill or an emergency and would therefore jeopardize the quality of the raw water for the public water supply; and 4) the operation of the facilities and the quality of the treated water at the public water supply would be adversely affected by such material as may be involved in a potential spill or emergency.

During the comment period of the previous notice National Marine Service, Inc. revised their application to include the following: 1) floating of loaded barges carrying liquids, salts, wastes and other similar materials will not be permitted; 2) floating will commence at the upstream end of the pier and 3) firefighting will be limited to water and/or carbon dioxide extinguishers. Based on these amendments to the original application, the IEPA intends to issue water quality certification pursuant to Section 401.

Comments and inquiries concerning this matter may be directed to: Thomas G. McSwiggin, Manager, Permit Section, Division of Water Pollution Control, IEPA, 2200 Churchill Road, Springfield, Illinois 62706 at telephone 217/782-0610. Copies of the permit application may be examined at the above address between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Further action by the IEPA on the matter will not be taken for at least 30 days following the date of this notice. If the public hearing which it is in the public interest to do so, a public hearing may be held at which any interested person may present either oral or written testimony.

Xi Epsilon sets party

Final plans for a Christmas party to be held on Dec. 19 were announced at the November meeting of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Mrs. Dorothy Simpson hosted the session as arrangements were also discussed for a reverse progressive dinner planned for Jan. 30.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the hostess to Judy Bartel, Jane Carbone, Terri Davis, Anastasia Elleff, Ruth Hubbard, Joan Pritchard and Cookie White.

The wedding of Miss Debra Lee Maly, of St. Louis, and Stanley Craig Manoogian, of Granite City, was solemnized on Oct. 3, at Salem Methodist Church in Ladue, Mo.

The Rev. Khoren Habeshian of St. Gregory the Illuminator Armenian Church in Granite City, and the Rev. C. Clark Leonard of Salem Methodist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Organist Mark Fitzgerald accompanied the vocalist Maryanne McFarland.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maly of Henryetta, Okla. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Manoogian of Granite City.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal, Victorian-styled white satin gown with a fitted heart shaped Alencon lace bodice. A pleated satin cummerbund and the fitted waistline.

The cathedral length train was edged with Alencon lace, and seed pearls embellished the floral lace pattern. Her satin sleeves puffed to the elbow and were fitted to the wrist enhanced with Alencon lace.

The bride designed her wedding gown and it was created by a dressmaker and designer, of St. Louis. She carried a French style bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis, baby's breath, and ivy.

The bride chose her sister, Dasha Poston, of Oklahoma City, as matron of honor and bridesmaids included Lisa Breashears, Denver, Colo., Dana Jirachuk, Phoenix, Ariz., Lonny Mathews, Kansas City, Mo., and Virginia Dean, of St. Louis, Mo.

They selected pink moire taffeta long skirts complemented with white lace ruffled blouses. Each carried a French style bouquet of roses, pink miniature carnations, blue-violet statice, and baby's breath.

Daniel Manoogian, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Richard Weitzel of Edwardsville, Greg Willard of St. Louis, David Miller of San Antonio, Texas, and Donald Maly, of Oklahoma City, OK.

A dinner reception followed the ceremony at the Westport Plaza Holiday Inn. The evening's entertainment was provided by the Scotty Thompson Band.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents the evening before the ceremony at Fred Gang's in Creve Coeur.

After a wedding trip to Lake Forest, Ala., the couple will reside in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bartley

Miss Karen Elizabeth Wiggins, daughter of Mrs. Eloise Wiggins, 173 Viola Jones Homes, became the bride of Michael Anthony Bartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bartley, 1119 Bissell St., on Oct. 10 at Mount Nebe Missionary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Jerome Jackson officiated at the 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony. Sanguary decorations provided by Willie Hamilton, included burning tapers in branch standing candelabra accented with trailing ivy placed on either side of the altar.

Nuptial selections were by vocalists Ephraim Burrell, James Burrell Jr., Rosemary Nunn, Jacqueline Burrell and Lisa Turner. They were accompanied by musicians, Hilda James, Denise Williams and Roy Harris. Joyce Riley served as the wedding coordinator.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal ivory organza gown designed with an open bodice featuring a high neckline of Chantilly lace, etched with seed pearls. The decorative lace can was repeated on the bodice and the long sheer bishop style sleeves.

The full skirt and chapel train was encircled with a double crystal pleated flounce. She wore an open crown headpiece of Chantilly lace to secure her fingertip veil of bridal illusion enhanced with pearls and lettuce leaf design. Her cascade bouquet was created with tiny rosebuds and ferns festooned with white satin ribbons.

Miss of honor Kathleen Wiggins and the bridesmaids, Lisa Honorable, Sheryl Ferguson and Gwendolyn Burrell, were gownned alike in polyester and chiffon berry dresses.

Designed in an A-line style the gowns were created with draped bodiced over one shoulder and pleated skirts complemented with chiffon capelets accented with a cluster of roses at the neckline.

Each attendant wore an open crown hat trimmed with matching ribbons and flowers.

Guerrin Pichon and A'Mia Nunn served as flower girls. They wore pink frocks crested with ruffled necklines, satin ribbon belts and full skirts with double flounced hemlines.

Each girl wore a pink satin floral headpiece.

Jansen Pichon and D'Juan Nunn were the ringbearers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held in the Venice Recreation Center, following the service.

Parents attend musical

The third grade students from Mrs. Joyce Albers and Mrs. Ann Peters' homeroom were the participants in a music class demonstration last week at Niedringhaus School.

A part of the open-house festivities, the children demonstrated to their parents some of the activities used in their general music class. This highlighted activities directed toward the primary children in general, as well as the accomplishments of this particular class.

Miss Patricia Dineff, music teacher at the school, explained the importance of primary children being introduced to and becoming aware of the fundamental elements of music such as hearing the beat, moving to music, feeling the beat, etc. These basic skills are essential to the child's being successful with other related activities in music education.

Secondly they demonstrated their advanced music reading skills, reading for their parents music from the printed page, showing the integration of beat, rhythm, words and melody to create a song.

Listening to music and being introduced to composers is a third area covered in general music class and was highlighted with the children's illustrating their enjoyment of singing music of several of the master composers known to all. The musical examples were those specifically directed toward the demonstration with favorite songs acquired through the year.

Those participating in the performance were Linda Barron, Penny Bollinger, Sally Brown, Dianna Camren, David Edwards, Tanya Elliott, Kathy Engleke, Ronald Gibson, Jody Grotz, Abigail Hall, Amy Isom, Melissa Keen, Dani McDowell, Pamela Mansfield, Melanie Rice, Leah Schuman, Ullona Schreist, Justin Stallings, Carla Williams, and Tammi Western.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS

Zircon has such flash and fire that its only natural rival is the diamond. It should not be considered an imitation diamond but accepted for the lovely gem it is, especially in tones of gold, red or rich blue.

Those born in December have the zircon as their birthstone. These relatively inexpensive stones are ideal gifts for any occasion.

The cost of natural gas will be going up this winter...
...for all of us

We don't like paying more for natural gas any more than you. Illinois Power buys natural gas from several pipeline companies. With the federal government's price decontrol program now in effect, the pipeline rate for natural gas is going up. This will directly influence the price we all pay for gas this winter.

Higher prices of natural gas have already led to more exploration, and discoveries of new sources of supply. Platforms in the Gulf of Mexico now operate in over 900 feet of water, and routinely drill down over 16,000 feet in search of natural gas. As long as we can continue to find new supplies, and replace the gas we're using up, then there will be enough natural gas to meet your needs.

Obviously, with the price of gas going up, no one can afford to waste energy. Be certain your home is well insulated. Seal up any cracks around window and door frames with caulking. Use storm windows, and dial down the thermostat at night.

There is still time for you to take action to control your heating costs this winter. We would like to help. For information and ideas about conservation, call our Energy Use Advisor at Illinois Power Company.

"NERVES"

Frequently we hear someone say "I'm just a bundle of nerves...I'm about ready for a nervous breakdown." In some cases, such people have already had a sort of "breakdown" in the nervous system. Misaligned vertebrae can pinch and irritate any of the countless nerves that are located in the spinal column.

When nerves are irritated, they cannot function properly. Not only does pain result but muscular and organic functions are impaired and "nervousness" makes the victim tired, sleepless and irritable.

A chiropractic examination will determine if spinal misalignment is causing your health problem. Phone our office for an appointment. There is no charge for consultation.

Soviets' biological warfare should awaken the world

Wall Street Journal—Vlacheslav Ustinov, 56, was appointed United Nations under secretary general for political and security affairs in July, capping a brilliant diplomatic career. He joined the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 1950. As under secretary general, he is the international civil servant in charge of the UN investigation of "yellow rain." A year ago, over strong objections from the Soviet Union and its allies, the UN General Assembly established a team of medical experts to investigate reports of use of gaseous chemical and biological weapons in Laos, Cambodia and Afghanistan.

The team has operated under severe funding limits, not surprising since it works in a UN department that traditionally has been a Soviet. On its current trip, it has been talking to refugees in Thailand. It was not allowed into Laos, Cambodia or Afghanistan and was unable to take up an invitation from Pakistan to meet with Afghan refugees. It was given no money for laboratory tests of yellow rain samples.

It took ten months to organize the five-member team and another month or two debating whether to talk to U.S. experts on the topic. Its report is due to read. Yes, there are these refugee reports.

Adults should not be surprised to learn that referring a serious issue to the UN is not a way of pursuing it, but of burying it. Yet, supporting the UN investigation is the most serious initiative about yellow rain undertaken to date by the U.S.

Indeed, even the hawk on the issue within our government would consider it a splendid victory merely to extend the life of the investigating team.

So, children are being gassed with biological toxins in Asia; arms control treaties are being brazenly violated. Does anyone care? Is anyone really serious about the issue of the unexplained administration serious? If not, who else could possibly be?

Testimony by Richard Butts, State Department director of political-military affairs, removed any doubt about the factual understanding of the issue within the government. He told a Senate subcommittee of four physical scientists of evidence proving that mycotoxins are being used in Southeast Asia.

He said, "The toxins could come only from the Soviet Union, for they are outlawed by mankind, successfully banned from the battlefields of the industrial world for over five decades. But they are now being used as weapons of biological and defenseless people in campaigns of mounting extermination" in Laos and Cambodia.

Surely, these blatant violations of solemn international law are so serious as to call for more than Congressional testimony by a middle-ranking U.S. official. This is typical of the ambivalence in U.S. treatment of yellow rain.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig was the first official to make the findings public, in a Berlin speech in September. The next week, he met with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko and agreed to TNF talks opening Nov. 30. The U.S. also has agreed to release the biological weapons. February. But when Haig raised the "yellow rain" issue, there was an administration decision not to charge the Soviets formally with arms control violations.

Release of the scientific findings of mycotoxins in Southeast Asia, and similarly botched U.S. officials didn't adequately put the new evidence in the total context of Soviet chemical and biological warfare activities, which date back to the 1930s.

Disclosure of one leaf and two sample was, therefore, looked on with skepticism. Given such ambivalence, it isn't surprising that some officials are puzzled over the lack of attention to yellow rain by much of the press and public.

The reason for skepticism is that it is so serious a charge that if the U.S. believes it, its behavior toward the Soviets ought to be affected. But business-as-usual is being defended if you factor yellow rain into the way we understand the nature of Soviet leadership, the prospects for arms control, and the future of the Western alliance.

The great importance of these implications is probably the very reason for U.S. ambivalence. It's not only difficult to defend a position on the ethics of the use of biological weapons, but it's also hard to accept the implications of yellow rain for the future of U.S.-Soviet relations. In its words and actions, the administration has yet to come to grips with this dilemma, to get serious.

What would serious behavior look like? First, we would confront the Soviets with the evidence as a violation of arms control agreements; the Standing Consultative Commission, set up by SALT, provides a pointed forum.

We would also take the issue to the allies, which have already been shown the scientific evidence, and ask them if it still warrants a "business-as-usual" defense. Ask them how they would verify Soviet SS-20's given the calculated duplicity on toxin weapons the USSR would use on the U.S., to come up with proposals.

If the U.S. were serious, it would stand up for the helpless Hmong tribes of Laos and the Vietnamese in the U.S. and bring the Soviet Union and its allies before the International Court of Justice. It would provide evidence of the 50,000 deaths since 1970, the deaths of thousands of children and other weapons, and charge genocide.

Finally, if we were serious we would do what we are obligated to do under the Biological Weapons Convention. Under the treaty, the U.S. would present evidence of violations to the UN Security Council.

While the convention obligates the Soviets to "cooperate" in investigation of charges, the USSR would use the probe, by veto if necessary. Under the treaty, the next step is to take the issue to the General Assembly, trying to win a consensus of the Security Council.

Final step under the treaty is calling an emergency session of the signatories, on petition of a majority of the 11 signatories to the Third World nations especially vulnerable to biological attacks. Undemanding to know whether they would not join in such a petition and why. This would force seriousness not only at home but internationally.

As a matter of fact, the "yellow rain" charges the USSR points out Soviet duplicity and ruthlessness. Recognition of this would force the issue with a wavering Europe, persuade the transfer of such weapons to what the two superpowers stand for. Either Europe must start to exert itself in its own defense, or let us know now that it has become intimidated beyond repair, so we can act accordingly.

As a matter of human rights and arms control, yellow rain is more important than any of the well publicized negotiations. It is entirely possible, after all, that enough world pressure would force the Soviets to curb the attacks, perhaps by releasing Asian villagers from ghastly deaths.

It is certain that if these weapons are used without effective international pressure, the transfer of such weapons will vanish and mankind will turn one step more brutish.

The American government says it believes the Soviets are engaged in biological warfare, a gross violation of treaties outlawing the production, possession, transfer of such weapons.

If this is so, our policy must be to press the issue in every available forum—bilaterally with the Soviets, in every multilateral negotiation, in every multilateral institution, and privately with other nations. If America believes what it says it believes, no other policy can conceivably be defended.

Tax hikes should be spread over several areas

To the Editor:
After reading the articles about the sales tax defeat, in the Monday, Nov. 23 Press-Record, I want to congratulate your paper on keeping the people up to date on the details of this problem because it very obviously affects each and every one of us.

Now that the sales tax has been ruled unconstitutional, and well it should have been in its present form, the city has to try something different that is not so prohibitive to any one group or people or businesses. Unlike Mayor Schulz, I don't believe that utility tax is the "only alternative."

It is possible to again pass sales tax in a different form, and this time, take into account what people like Mr. Woodmore have to say. Why not make it a 1/2% or 1% percent tax with a maximum limit on any one purchase.

This would serve to keep people from going to places other than Granite City to shop for those "big ticket" items.

Incidentally, I suspect that if the mayor and the council had agreed to a similar arrangement before, we would now have a sales tax effect as well as the deal that would have been a legal challenge.

If the sewer tax was raised, the mayor and the council might be able to put a decent road program as it should be, and a small telephone tax was imposed as the mayor suggested, along with the tightening of controls for trash collection, as Alderman Keller suggested, then perhaps the city might be able to get itself out of this rut and get back into the black.

I realize that the mayor and the council, as well as the mayor's assistant, David Nolan, are devoting a great deal of time to these problems, but I hope they keep in mind that our city is heavily industrialized and a utility tax is going to hit them very hard.

As I understand it, Granite City Steel made available $1.7 million to the city for the 1978 program but was eliminated on Sept. 30, 1981, due to the federal budget cuts.

Many cuts have been made by President Reagan, but payment of Granite City's school lunch programs cut, and children were forced to pay more, for what they said was poorer quality food.

To further help balance his budget, he proposes more tax on gasoline, liquor, and cigarettes. The question is, how are we going to balance our budget? Considering this, the president of the United States does not have to pay for anything. Why in

Moore a director of state school association

Delegate members of the Illinois Association of School Boards, convened at the Palmer House in Chicago and elected six officers for the 1981-1982 term, including George Moore of Granite City. The officers will assume their respective duties immediately following the three-day conference last week.

Moore was retained as a director-at-large. He is a member of the Granite City District 9 Board of Education and was first elected to that board in 1965. He has served on the governing board of the Southwestern Division for several years and was chosen as a member of the IASB Board of Directors in 1979.

He has served on a number of IASB committees and task forces, most recently on the IASB committee monitoring activities of the Educational Services Region Study Group. He was first elected director-at-large in 1980. Other officers are James Sanders, of Madison, president; Joan W. Levy of New Trier Township, vice-president; and Emil Bernard of Springfield, secretary. Wayne Sampson of Morton Grove and Melvin Schroeder of Joliet, directors-at-large.

Following is an editorial viewpoint by the newly-elected president of the Illinois Association of School Boards, a voluntary organization created to provide training, services and leadership for its 932 member school boards. Sanders, for the past 21 years, served as member and former president of the Marion Community Unit

District 2 Board of Education (Williamson County).

"I feel that school boards must be accountable to the taxpayers in the use of their money. Since the taxpayers are the ones who pay for their education, I feel that we have a responsibility to the taxpayers to define the roles of school board members in the education process."

Bridge the gaps
"We must bridge the gaps that exist between the board members, administrators, teachers, the office of education and the legislature. I feel that it is important that there be greater cooperation between the teachers and board members by and through their associations. We must take the initiative to achieve full funding as called for in the education, I would suggest that we conduct seminars on a regional basis with the leadership coming from experts in the field, including IASB staff, with the hope that it will become a statewide program to teach every school board how to

Communication
"I feel that we have great things in education that the public should know about which are positive and not negative. That we should engage experts to help us in our public relations through the media, to show the taxpayers what we are doing in education, I would suggest that we conduct seminars on a regional basis with the leadership coming from experts in the field, including IASB staff, with the hope that it will become a statewide program to teach every school board how to have better public relations with the taxpayers," he concluded.

New board formed to help the disabled

Governor James R. Thompson announced Monday that he has established, through executive order, the Developmental Disabilities Protection and Advocacy Board for further protection of people with developmental disabilities.

The survey counted 51 students using the 20th and Benton crossing, compared to 20 crossing at 19th and Cleveland. Voth reported the average number of children, at 19th and Benton crossing, was 19 students, and "one of our officers is contacting these children to advise them to use 19th and Cleveland to cross."

A school patrol is currently assigned to the corner. "Children were observed as not having any difficulty crossing with the patrol boy and the lights."

Veizer stated that after discussing the traffic situation at 20th and Benton with City Traffic Engineer Ed Schulze, he learned the traffic flow at that site has not increased, "possibly increasing a little."

"It is my recommendation that the crossing guard remain at 20th and Benton and that no change be made at this time," Veizer reported.

Varadani made a motion to defer action on the report and to refer the matter to the aldermen of the ward. That motion was approved.

Happy Group seniors' dinner

Fifty-two members of the Happy Group Senior Citizens met at the 20th and Benton crossing and "all the trimmings" at their meeting last week at the Granite City Township Community Center, 20th and Benton.

The entrance was catered by Petri's Restaurant and the members provided covered plates and a guest was Emily Stoyanoff.

Prizes were awarded following the meal to Irma Fick, who was named "Most Valuable Citizen" by the group.

Games were played and the members enjoyed the evening. A guest was Emily Stoyanoff.

Other awards were received by Kattie Colligan and Evelyn Morgan. Other awards were received by Kattie Colligan and Evelyn Morgan.

The group will hold its business session and birthday event at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 3.

Crossing guard unnecessary at overpass, study indicates

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald Veizer is recommending that a school crossing guard be assigned at the 19th Street overpass, despite a petition from Emerson School parents saying the crossing is dangerous.

A 200-signature petition handed to Alderman Jake Varadani of the Fifth Ward and a speech on the subject by parent representative Debra Robinson last month — both directed at guard duty at the overpass — had prompted a study by the police department.

The council approved the study findings presented by Chief Veizer after petitioners disagreed with an alternative presented by Varadani. The alderman had proposed the Emerson School crossing guard at 20th and Benton streets be moved to the overpass area and a three-way stop take the guard's place at 20th and Benton. Parents contend that guard are needed at both locations.

"In making our survey of the 20th and Benton crossing, we found that the crossing at 19th and Benton during the morning and evening hours, when school children are going to school, is better than double of that at 19th and Cleveland," Veizer wrote in a report given to the council.

The survey measured both the number of children and the flow of traffic at the crossing and at the 20th and Benton Emerson School crossing.

"We also found that the type of traffic at 20th and Benton is more of a really is a place where they are crossing the main street, they're not afraid to show it."

The firmers of Granite City have kicked off our campaign for obtaining these flags by donating $500. As we wish to obtain flags for all the schools in the city, we ask that a monetary gift be donated rather than a flag in order that we can be sure of obtaining equal sized flags.

Should you be interested in promoting the patriotism of our American flag in his song. As an Alderman of the Sixth Ward and a public servant to the entire city of Granite City, I would like to try to bring those words back echoing through the streets of our city.

As a resident of my ward came to me and suggested that we, as a city, be concerned about not only the flag, but the American flag as a whole. As you are aware, in order to achieve something great, one must start on a small scale and work towards the ultimate level. In this case, that level being supreme patriotism.

We are in the process of trying to secure 100 American flags for the city of Granite City. These flags will be given on all National Holidays as well as various local days of recognition throughout the city of Granite City, where they will be viewed by the greatest number of people, not only residents of Granite City but visitors as well. Wouldn't it be nice to hear someone from outside our city say, "Granite City

Has lost faith in Reagan

To the Editor:
President Ronald Reagan has pulled a "Robin Hood" in reverse. Taking from the poor and giving to the rich; all for the sake of balancing the budget.

For starters, the food stamp program was cut. Many who were receiving food stamps were terminated from the program.

Next, those people who were seeking credits of up to $200 from E.O.C., a federal relief program to help them with high heating and air conditioning costs, found the program had been eliminated on Sept. 30, 1981, due to the federal budget cuts.

Many cuts have been made by President Reagan, but payment of Granite City's school lunch programs cut, and children were forced to pay more, for what they said was poorer quality food.

To further help balance his budget, he proposes more tax on gasoline, liquor, and cigarettes. The question is, how are we going to balance our budget? Considering this, the president of the United States does not have to pay for anything. Why in

How about citizen-owned cable?

To the Editor:
There's no reason why the cable TV system should be a dead issue in Madison, even though Home Rule did not pass.

Mayor Sasyk really wants to get the people involved in their community and make them feel a part of it. I'd like to make the following suggestion on how we might be able to have citizen-owned cable TV without incurring debt.

Cable TV could in essence be owned by the people and not just the administration, with the suggestion I have in mind. That is to let the people become stockholders in Madison Corporation Cable TV.

What better way can you get the people involved and to support a project such as this by making them a part of it?

Under a corporation, we would be able to sell stock to the citizens of Madison. This help finance the initial cost of cable TV.

Being a stockholder would give the individuals a discount on the services and, at the same time, after cable TV proves to be profitable, the stockholders would then receive cash dividends.

You're probably asking yourself how does this all come about?

First of all, to become a stockholder, an individual could invest as much as, for example, anywhere from a $25 share of stock up to $5,000, let's say.

The amount would be decided upon by a board of directors which would be composed of stockholders.

The dividends would be disbursed by a percentage to the stockholders and city alike.

By having the people of Madison invest their hard-earned money into a corporation such as this, we can be sure they are going to protect their investment by making sure that the project becomes a success and profitable.

I feel this suggestion has a lot of merit and could be beneficial to all concerned. I'm sure there are a lot of legalities that need to be ironed out, but I feel confident that we can make it work.

Mayor Sasyk plan to own and operate cable TV seemed a little risky, with the city having no control over the city's cable system.

There are many ways to own and operate cable TV without any community involvement.

My suggestion might not be the answer, but I feel it could be a step in the right direction, and could also mean bringing more jobs and businesses back into Madison.

There are other means of having citizen-owned cable TV in Madison than what the mayor has proposed.

If the people don't want citizen-owned cable TV, then why doesn't the mayor quit playing games and get South-Western Cable TV or some other franchise system in our community?

ANY NUMBER CAN DIE. The Granite City High School South winter play, "Any Number Can Die," will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium on the South campus, with tickets available at the

Dedicate Hooks gymnasium

The Thomas J. Hooks Gymnasium at Metro-East Lutheran High School was dedicated last week, recognizing a former Venice resident who is confined to a motorized wheelchair due to a swimming pool diving accident 11 years ago.

Hooks gave the regional Lutheran school $55,000 for construction of the gym at its new building in the Edwardsville area.

Although he has sought to avoid public acclaim, the contributor was accorded standing ovations at the dedication ceremonies, held in the gymnasium.

Donald Cochran, school board chairman, described him as "the answer to all our prayers. Without his generous gift, the gymnasium would not have been completed for another two to four years. Our school community is deeply indebted to him."

As tokens of appreciation, the school presented Hooks a lifetime pass to all events at the school, formally named the gymnasium in his honor, and presented him an autographed basketball, displayed on a hardwood pedestal made from gym flooring.

His decision to finance the gym was relayed to the school through Duane Rankin, who called his longtime friend and neighbor "a rare individual."

Although he is not a Lutheran, Hooks had no doubts about wanting to help the school project. "I felt it was something worthwhile for the community. It's something that kids can enjoy," he noted.

"The success of the school is not what I did, but what many people did, working together. I'm just glad that I could help out."

School, Hooks had many other interests as well, and never considered himself "a jock." Brother Charles Schmidt of Assumption recalls that Hooks enjoyed intramural sports as well as dramatics while in high school.

The young businessman, now a resident of Maryville, focuses his attention on the future rather than the past. Most of his efforts are related to the operation of franchised pizza restaurants in this area.

Although the neck fracture that he suffered has resulted in extensive paralysis, he remains not only active but intensely concerned about Madison County and the bi-state metropolitan area. And he agrees with Cochran that "God works in mysterious ways. He wonders to perform."

ELMER GOODE, a broker associate with the Carl Hoffman Real Estate office, has earned the Million Dollar Sales award for the fourth consecutive year and the President's Award for the year, an honor he has had continuously since 1979. The awards are an example by the state Board of Realtors.

SUE WILL EXHIBIT DONATED ARTWORKS

A unique African blanket will be a featured item in the Recent Acquisitions Exhibit, today through Dec. 24, in the University Center (second floor) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The blanket, a gift from Dr. and Mrs. Donald King of Largo, Fla., is an example of the university's worldwide collection of art. It was acquired while he was stationed in Bamileke, Mali, as a member of the university's educational team.

Most of the pieces in the SUE museum collection are gifts from donors liquidating their private collections. More than $1 million worth of art has been acquired in this fashion since 1979.

TELEVISION STOLEN

SALES TAX REBATE. Bill Woodrome, left, of Woodrome Olds Inc. hands Rudolf Besta, 2444 Woodlawn Ave., a $150 check from a folder of checks Woodrome car buyers and service customers will be receiving in the mail this week. Woodrome is rebating the added one percent Granite City sales tax charged Nov. 1 to 19, before Associate Judge Edward Ferguson declared the tax unconstitutional.

Auto dealer begins rebating sales tax

By GEORGEANN MCGEE for the Press-Record

Bill Woodrome of Woodrome Olds Inc., one of two car dealers to successfully challenge the city's added one percent sales tax, said he is not anxious to go to court again.

According to City Attorney John Papa, the city already has passed a "re-enacted" sales tax ordinance. There have been no indications whether the city will appeal the ruling of the city sales tax found unconstitutional Nov. 19.

Woodrome had said that he would appeal any sales tax ordinance the city approves, but believed the "re-enacted" ordinance had already been ruled on by the court. He said he was tentatively informed his lawyers he does not intend to collect a tax under the new ordinance and will wait for the city to "enforce" the ordinance. "We feel we have already won," Woodrome said.

The expense and time of going to court has made Woodrome cautious of plunging into another court battle. He said he has the sympathies of several merchants selling expensive items, where the sales tax effect is most obvious. He said he might request that other merchants with whom he is in contact take the city to court next, if another tax is attempted.

Woodrome and other claimed that the sales tax difference in large items will force customers into other communities. The auto dealer said that the amended tax ordinance states that the tax will be charged at the time the sale takes place and he is "quite willing" to consider the "sale" as taking place upon delivery at the homes of customers from neighboring communities, thus avoiding any additional city sales tax.

For instance, he said, if a customer from Collinsville had his new car delivered to his home in that city, Woodrome would consider "the sale" as taking place at the time of the delivery in Collinsville, so the city tax would not apply.

Woodrome has begun distribution of rebate checks to all his customers who were charged the tax during the Nov. 1 to 19 period, when the unconstitutional city sales tax ordinance was in effect.

Seniors to study family histories

The Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a seminar entitled "Oral Family History," Wednesday, Dec. 2. Two SUE faculty members, Joyce Aschenbrenner, associate professor of anthropology, and Kathryn Skinner, associate professor of psychology, will lead the session.

The program will include a videotaped kinship interview and a presentation of a family history by an older relative. After participants view the tapes, they will be given a chance to discuss the possible implications of videotaping in terms of family cohesion and communication between generations. The session is scheduled from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi-Illinois Room in the University Center. The program is part of a seminar series offered this year at no charge as a public service to senior citizens in this region. Additional information is available from Lisa Pettit at 1-692-3454.

Chicago seeking 1992 World Fair

Governor James R. Thompson was notified Wednesday that the U.S. Government will request that the 1992 World's Fair be held in Chicago.

The Governor was notified by Department of Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige that the U.S. government would officially request the Bureau of International Expositions to designate Chicago as the 1992 site. The Bureau will receive the request at its next meeting in Paris, Wednesday, Dec. 2nd and a decision could be reached by June, 1982.

"This is a great honor for Illinois and Chicago. The state of Illinois and the city of Chicago have worked hard for this designation and we will do everything we can to present the best case before the Bureau of International Expositions," the Governor said.

"The theme of the fair will be 'Discovery' to commemorate the 500th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of the New World. We are very hopeful that the Bureau will look favorably on Chicago and Illinois," he said.

If approved, the Chicago fair would be the first international class exposition to be held in the world since the 1970 World's Fair in Osaka, Japan.

Anne Murray home for Christmas

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — While Perry Como has gone to Israel, Mexico and other distant and exotic points for his annual Yule specials, Anne Murray is going back to her roots with her first Christmas show.

Her special (air date not set as this is being written) is being produced in Nova Scotia where Anne grew up and taught school before she became a world-famous singer.

But the show will also feature The Men of the Deep, a group of singing Nova Scotian coal miners plus members of Anne's family.

Her son, 5, and daughter, 2, won't sing but will probably be on camera, she says, as will her mother, her five brothers and their households.

"Nova Scotia means New Scotland," Murray points out, "so we'll have lots of kilts and pipes."

"The country is beautiful and I think the fact that the special is being done there will make it quite different from other shows."

Christmas music in Nova Scotia is about like Christmas music throughout the United States, Anne says, so viewers won't be treated to any exotic carols.

Nor will record buyers find any novelties on Anne's new Christmas album, just released.

"I've found that when people buy Christmas records," she says, "they look for the familiar songs."

"So, on one side of the album I sing 'Joy to the World' and traditional carols and on the other side I sing popular but familiar songs such as 'The Little Drummer Boy' and 'I'll Be Home For Christmas.'"

Naturally, a singer with Anne's style and following has been offered a chance to do her own television series, but Murray isn't interested in a weekly show.

"People in the record industry die when they're on television every week," she thinks. "A series is lethal to a record career."

Tell that to Barbara Mandrell!

Conrad Bain had never considered the advantages of bigamy until he made "Child Bride of Short Creek," a World Premiere drama to air over NBC on Pearl Harbor night.

Now he thinks marriage to a gaggle of wives might not be a bad arrangement, though he hasn't aired this notion before the one wife he now proudly claims.

"Child Bride of Short Creek" is the dramatization of incidents which occurred in 1953 when authorities raided an Arizona community where a religious group was practicing polygamy.

"First," says Bain, "they hauled the men away but then they found they had nothing to charge them with. So then they carried away the women and children and kept them in what was called protective custody for two years."

The much-married men, Bain explained, had broken no law, because they'd taken only one wife each through state-prescribed procedures and the others by common law only, marrying them according to their religious convictions if not according to legal niceties.

"I'd never thought about the advantages of bigamy," Bain said, "until I had lunch with a man named Harold and his two wives."

"He argues that even feminists should support the practice because the wives form a sisterhood."

"Each wife gets to do the type work which appeals to her most. One may like to cook and another may like to take care of the children, for example. And every five years each wife gets a sabbatical during which she can leave and go to school or do whatever interests her."

(Within reason, one imagines.)

Further, Bain said, no new wife is added to a household until she's approved by wives already in residence. It's only after the prospective addition has the sisterhood's blessing that the husband is allowed a say in the matter.

"Harold has a neighbor with four wives and 43 children," Bain says musingly.

Enumerating other joys found in bigamy, Bain says, "According to Harold, each wife has her own room and the husband takes turns in the sleeping quarters."

"He sleeps with Wife A, for example, on Monday, Wife B, on Tuesday, and so forth."

"But, if a wife doesn't want him to stop by, she has the privilege of passing."

Can the husband also pass?

Bain isn't sure. "I suppose not," he finally decides. "He's the dealer."
